Further Reading Required is the eighth Architecture& seminar at the Bartlett. It opens a discussion about why we might turn to building specifications, contracts, and technical literature with researchers in architectural history and theory, building construction, law, and literature, and with architectural practitioners interested in the effects of working within this framework and in finding openings for its subversion. Further Reading Required is organised by Tilo Amhoff, Nick Beech, and Dr Katie Lloyd Thomas.

Room G01, Bartlett School of Architecture
Wates House, 22 Gordon Street,
London, WC1H 0QB

Thursday 17 February
9:30am to 6:30pm

The event is free but please RSVP at:
